ANNOUNCEMENTS.

DOWNIE & WHEELER'S CIRCUS COMBINED.

How the Great Show and Its Army of People Are Managed,

Downie & Wheeler's big double circus, which is to visit this city on Friday, Aug. 2, there are hundreds of people employed, and that of these there are employed, and that of these there are blacksmiths, painters, carpenters, barbers, laundrymen, doctors, a lawyer, detectives, cooks, trainmen, butchers, waiters, seamstresses, harness makers, musicians, shoemakers, a posimaster, hostlers, electricians, and many other mechanics and artisans, besides the performers, all jumbled together and working for a common interest. The task of organising this traveling city seems the most wonderful feature of the institution. In Downis & Wheeler's winter quarters, the home of these new giant shows, the work of organizing the circus began last September, A few weeks before the season begins the various performers who have been resting during the winter arrive to practice their acts, that they may be perfected by the time the regular reresting during the winter arrive to practice their acts, that they may be perfected by the time the regular retheoremsile begin, and all winter the sound of the anvil and the mallet is heard at the circus quarters. Meantime, the adventising cars have started out in advance, while the various contracting agents are on their way, arranging for circus lots and billiboard appace etc. Then there is the 24-hour man, who is a story in himself. He space etc. Then there is the 24-hour man, who is a story in himself. He gets his title from being 24 hours absed of the show, arransing for wood, water, food and ice, besides attending to many other matters that have arisen. Everything about the Downie & Wheeler's combined shows has been so systematized that it is like a great clock. It is true that of all professionals, none are more domestic than the circus performer. He may lead the life of a rover the greater part of the year, but, like the shall, he carries his house around with him, and has many homely comforts that the ordinary traveler cannot anjoy. In this queen traveling city they speak every view. queer traveling city they speak every language, from English to Hindoostani. Frank J. Frink, s former Norwich boy, is the general agent for these shows.

BREED THEATER.

Everybody's talking about the won-derful pictures at the Breed yesterday, as the house was packed to the doors with interested spectators, all of whom were delighted with the great heauty of them. Heading this big bill is the marvelous Pathe Weekly, the newspicture that is read by more than twenty million people weekly. This pleature as usual shows all the impor-uant events of the day including views of the travelling men's parade in Wor-This center, which took place so recently. Many familiar faces are seen in it, making it doubly interesting.

A beautiful story of a member of the G. A. R. holds the attention of all by its realistic and touching story. It is entitled The Sunset Gun, and without doubt is the picture that has stir red the hearts of more people in Nor wich than any seen in years. It has a subtle charm that is very pronounced and this supplemented by a faultless cast, makes it a real gem.

POETRY

A COMMON DESIRE.

I'd like to be applauded when I proudly passed along the street; I'd like it well if other men Would praise me when we chance to meet;

To meet:

I'd like to hear a rought cheer
And see the bats towed high for m.
When I romented to appear

Upon a lofty belony:
I'd like to cause the trowds to shout
My glory I would have them sing:
I'd like to have renown without.
The trouble that it seems to bring.

I'd like to have the people wait.
And watch to see me passing by;
I'd like to have them call me great.
And see them raise my standarf
ligh;
I'd like to have reporters seek.
To interview me day by day;
I wish that when I deigned to speak.
They'd rush to print what I would say; They derived any to sure the sure of the s

O women of this latter day, A Solomon has rome To back you in the dearest right That lives within the home.

He scorns the poet's sig advice
Of volces soft and low.
By pointing out men will impose
Upon you, when that's so,
And frankly sign you'se right to
The weapon nature gave.
And see that it is good and shall
If your own pence you'd save.
